

Ori Roll

Novice front end developer with a background in architecture

ABOUT ME

Hey, I'm Ori, an ex building architect (b.arch from the Technion), who has written a lot of code as a hobby. Recently, I've decided to up my game, improve my skills, and start looking for a job as a full time web developer. I've created websites, games, a calendar app (like google calendar) and more. I like simple and efficient solutions for programming problems and always try having reusable and concise code.
