

Ori Roll

Front end (+ novice backend) developer with a background in architecture

ABOUT ME

---

Hey, I'm Ori, a Junior web developer (also, formerly a building architect - b.arch from the Technion). I was writing code most of my life and am very passionate about it. I like simple and efficient solutions for programming problems and always try having reusable and concise code. I've created websites, games, a simple project management app (like Monday.com) a calendar app for my portfolio (like google calendar) and more.

SKILLS

---

HTML, CSS

JavaScript

Very good understanding of concepts like functional programming, state, closures, scope, asynchronous, etc.

Other Skills

VS Code, NPM, Git.
AutoCAD, Revit, 3ds-max,
Photoshop

React.js

(with redux/contextAPI, react router). Proficient with function components, structure and render efficiency.

Node.js + express + mongoDB+mongoose

My server-side knowledge is relatively basic

Languages

Hebrew - native speaker
English - native speaker level

WORK EXPERIENCE

---

Working on a lean project management web app startup~2020

During the corona outbreak, I worked on a web app startup - a proof of concept for a project management app (similar to monday.com or clickUp). I designed all of the client side structure (with React) and a most server side operations (based on mongoDB and using node + express). I was working along with experienced developers.
